

MORE VESSELS GO TO BOTTOM FROM SUBMARINE WORK

BIG BRITISH STEAMER SUNK YESTERDAY

While Officials Are Working on Details of Persia Tragedy of Last Week, News Comes of the Sinking of the Steamer Glengyle in Mediterranean, and an Attack Upon Kempn Maru, a Japanese Steamer.

United Press Service

LONDON, Jan. 3.—The British liner Glengyle was sunk by a submarine yesterday morning in the Mediterranean Sea. While nothing definite is yet known, it is believed that there were lives lost as a result.

This was a larger vessel than the liner Persia, the sinking of which by a Teuton submarine last week caused a big loss of life. It is not believed that the Glengyle carried passengers on this trip. She had a large crew, however.

As a result of the recent submarine activities in that section, several firms are reported to have suspended their sailings through the Suez canal.

Latest reports say the Glengyle was sunk between Port Said and Malta. The attacking vessel is believed to be one of the fleet which sunk the Persia and other vessels last week.

It now appears that the Glengyle may have carried passengers, as Port Said advices say "all landed but members of the crew."

The Japanese steamer Kempn Maru was also submerged yesterday. The crew was saved.

The news of these two events arrived in the midst of the admiralty's efforts to get details of the Persia sinking.

Justice Lamar Dies; Aged 58

JUSTICE LAMAR

United Press Service

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 3.—Joseph Rucker Lamar, associate justice of the supreme court of the United States, died last night at his home in this city. He has been ill for several months.

Lamar was elevated to the supreme bench from Georgia five years ago. He was a native of Georgia, and was 58 years of age. A coincident in connection with his demise is that it was just five years ago today that he took the oath of office as a member of the United States Supreme Court, following his appointment by President Taft.

In his native state, Lamar practiced law with success, was a member of the legislature, a justice of the state supreme court, and was an active member of the commission appointed to prepare the code for the state. He has long been in poor health, and it was due to poor health that he resigned during his second term as a justice of the Georgia court.

During the "A. B. C." conferences held at Niagara Falls, Ontario, in the hope of mediating the Mexican troubles, Judge Lamar was the official delegate from the United States.

LANE IN LINE FOR THE BENCH

SECRETARY OF INTERIOR SEEMS LIKELY SUCCESSOR TO JUSTICE LAMAR—HAS THE SUPPORT OF WATER USERS

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 3.—It is anticipated that President Wilson will nominate a democrat to fill the vacancy in the supreme court bench caused by the death of Justice Lamar. In this way he will avoid a change on the supreme court's party line up.

Franklin K. Lane, secretary of the interior, is the man most strongly mentioned for the appointment. He has been suggested as a possible justice for some time, and last year, the water users associations on all of the reclamation projects passed resolutions trusting that he would be elevated to such a position if occasion should arise.

Dorris Not Sorry Over the Oregon Dry Law

United Press Service

DORRIS, Calif., Jan. 3.—Nineteen sixteen looks like a "large year" for Dorris—and it's all due to the fact that Oregon went dry. Dorris is just over the line from Klamath county, Oregon, and already enterprising business-getters are figuring on a "jit" stage between Dorris and Klamath points, to accommodate the "thirsty."

There is a payroll of $100,000 a month at Klamath from the lumber industry alone, and Dorris figures to reap a nice, fat harvest from the lumbermen who come into town to celebrate. Heretofore the lumber jacks have spent their money freely in the Klamath Falls thirst parlors. In view of the fact that two saloonmen of Klamath have installed their bars here, and arrangements are under way to provide an easy access to them, it is reasonable to believe that Dorris will never regret the Oregon dry law.

WILSON DOCTRINE IS LATEST FOR A WORLD TO STUDY

SUBMARINING NOTE FOR THE WHOLE WORLD

Rights of Americans Everywhere is Next Diplomatic Question Administration Will Define—Notes to Bulgaria and Turkey are Aimed to Cut Off Further Activities by Divers. Officials Excited.

United Press Service

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 3.—President Wilson's next statement regarding submarining is likely to be a message addressed to the whole world, announcing the "Wilson Doctrine" on the rights of Americans everywhere. Technically, this may be embodied in a message to Germany or Austria, but it will be intended for all nations.

The president has decided to return tomorrow and take personal charge of the diplomatic complications arising from the Persia and Glengyle torpedoings.

It is reported that he has called a cabinet meeting, to begin immediately upon his return.

Officials say "no effort should be made to minimize the seriousness of the situation."

It is estimated that an understanding with the central powers regarding submarining will be demanded. Some demand the immediate recall of Burnstorff and Zwerdineck, German and Austrian embassy heads.

Several influential senators are urging Secretary of State Lansing to go slow. Lansing today stated that notes had been sent to Turkey and Bulgaria contemplating the heading off of any submarine outrages by these nations if the Austrian difficulty arising from the Ancona disaster is settled.

BETTER BRIDGES ON RESERVATION

The steel structure is to span the Williamson river near Chiloquin, replacing the old wooden structure. Two wood-and-steel bridges are to cross Sprague River, and the third will be across the Sycan.

How the Italians Look at the War Year of '15

By ALICE ROME (United Press Staff Correspondent)

ROME, Jan. 3.—When the orchestral guns have boomed their last salvo and the big asbestos curtain of peace drops on Europe's war-torn stage, doubtless the world will begin to appreciate the role played by King Victor in the greatest tragedy of history.

Act II was well under way before Italy joined the players and King Victor with his tuft of rooster feathers appeared from the wings. He had frequently been mentioned in the lines, and no sooner had he strode upon the stage than he and the veteran actor Franz Josef came to blows.

"Verona will fall before before Gorizia," shouted the Austrian.

"Gorizia first," retorted Victor—and the play went on.

It was not until May of last year that Italy declared war on Austria. Immediately the Italian general staff outlined the following land program:

1—An aggressive, systematic operation of the mountainous northern frontier, Trentino and the Carnic Alps—long fortified by Austria, designed to make an Austrian invasion of Italy easy while standing impregnable and guarding against an Italian invasion.

2—An offensive on a large scale against the Valley of the Isone which

Arrested on Charge of Second Homestead Move

Thomas T. Favinger, who has been homesteading in the Dairy section, is on his way to Portland in the custody of a federal officer, there to await the outcome of a federal grand jury's probe into a forgery charge against him.

Favinger took up a homestead in this county, and in making his affidavits, etc., he swore that he had never before exercised his homestead rights. The United States land office made a little investigation, and alleges that Favinger homesteaded, and secured a patent to land in Nebraska several years ago.

Deputy United States Marshal Berry came in late last week to make some investigations. These resulted in the arrest of Favinger, and this morning he started for Portland in Berry's custody.

Favinger, it is stated, does not make a strenuous denial of the charge against him. He says he should have known better than to have tried to have taken up a second piece of Uncle Sam's land.
